RV HACKS: TRAVELING WITH YOUR CANINE COMPANION

Baby Gates & Barriers

Foldable fencing and baby gates help to keep your pup within a specific area whether set up inside or outside your RV.

Remember Their Favorite Everything(s)!

Car rides can be lengthy and a bit boring for our canine friends so always keep their favorite chews or toys on hand. Don't forget their bed!

Try 'Hide & Go Treat'

While indoor RV activities might be limited, you can try hiding one of their favorite treats somewhere safe and easily accessible for them. That's it! Ready, Set, Go!

Be Prepared for Extreme Weather

Dog booties are a necessity during the extreme summer months. A few sprays from a spray bottle is a quick way to cool them down on those hot summer days. Remember their sweater or coat for those cold and windy days. When extreme weather is expected make sure they are not left unattended.

In Case of Emergency

Dogs can get into almost anything! Always keep your pets vet information readily available in case an emergency visit is necessary.

**Remember: We are dog friendly in all of our parks!****

**Always leash your four legged friends when out and about in our parks and make sure to clean up after them too!****

THE RIVER AND SO MUCH MORE!

Lake Cuyamaca

Located five minutes from KQ Ranch Resort

An easy hike for the whole family Lake Cuyamaca sits at an elevation of 4600 feet in an oak and pine forest, surrounded on three sides by the 26,000-acre Cuyamaca Rancho State Park. The dam that forms this 110-acre lake is the second oldest in California and was completed in 1888. A long-vanished 33-mile wooden flume transported water to the growing population of San Diego County. Now the lake provides a multitude of recreational activities, including fishing and hiking. The name Cuyamaca is a Spanish corruption of the Kumeyaay phrase "Ekwiyyemak," which has been translated to mean "behind the clouds" or as "the place where it rains.". When they have had a wet winter the wild flowers are abundant!
